Dear Ingham County Property Owner,

This brochure offers a basic explanation of the Drain Special Assessment process that pays for maintaining the storm drain system in Ingham County under my jurisdiction.

A properly maintained drainage system is important to county residents and businesses for everything from crop production to keeping streets passable and minimizing flood damage. A routinely maintained system is more cost effective, avoiding the need for large, expensive drain projects often required to rebuild a system that has been neglected for years.

The Drain Special Assessment process begins with the Day of Review of Apportionments in which you (as a property owner) are invited to review the records of maintenance efforts and costs for providing your land with stormwater drainage, and to discuss your proposed share of those costs. This Day of Review also provides the opportunity for you to inform my staff and me of additional maintenance issues, helping us do a better job for you in the future.

If after reading this brochure, you still have questions about Drain Special Assessments, please do not hesitate to contact my staff or me. The Ingham County Drain Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Sincerely yours,

Patrick E. Lindemann

We are the Stewards of the Great Lakes

Water Facts

The Great Lakes contain about 20 percent of the world’s available fresh water. Michigan has over 3,200 miles of shoreline on four of the five Great Lakes: Erie, Huron, Michigan and Superior.

Help Save our Waterways

Dump no waste (oils, paints, pet wastes, chemicals, and yard debris) into catch basins. Whatever goes into our catch basins goes into our streams, lakes, and waterways.

Leaves and debris that get raked into streets will decompose downstream releasing nutrients and reducing dissolved oxygen that can contribute to fish kills and algal blooms. Leaves and debris can also block the drains causing flooding of streets and yards.

This brochure was not paid for by drain assessments.
What is a Drain Special Assessment?
County drainage districts are separate public corporations with their own financial records. Each drainage district is supported by a Drain Special Assessment that covers the cost of maintaining the drainage system. County drains are not maintained by Ingham County general fund taxes.

What is a drainage district?
A drainage district is a legally established area of land that drains to a common outlet. Drainage district boundaries are determined by the natural topography of the land and rarely correspond to political boundaries such as townships or counties. Common words for drainage district include watershed and drainage basin.

Where is the storm drain for which I am being assessed?
The Ingham County Drain Office has maps and aerial photos that can show the location of your property and the county drain within the drainage district. These documents will be available on the Day of Review. Even if your property does not touch the county drain, stormwater flows toward this county drain as an outlet regardless of the land’s elevation.

How are assessments determined?
The law requires that assessments be based on benefit derived as determined by the Drain Commissioner. All properties within the drainage district are assessed based on size of the parcel and the land use that is assigned by the municipality. Distances from the drain or the location of the property within the drainage district are not factors. Drainage is considered as an interdependent system with the entire system benefiting from maintenance of the common outlet.

What is the difference between an apportionment and an assessment?
Although the terms are sometimes used interchangeably, the apportionment is a parcel’s percentage of the total cost of the drain maintenance or drain project. The assessment is the dollar amount to be paid by the landowner on behalf of his or her parcel.

Do all property owners pay Drain Special Assessments?
All property owners within a drainage district receive an assessment, unless specifically exempted by law. In addition, the municipality, Ingham County, the Ingham County Road Commission, and the Michigan Department of Transportation (as appropriate) also receive an assessment for a portion of the maintenance costs. The Drain Code does not exempt most non-profit or religious properties from assessment.

Why did I receive more than one Special Assessment Notice?
Each notice informs you of a Drain Special Assessment for a different drainage district. Your property can be in multiple drainage districts because stormwater moves from smaller watersheds through larger watersheds, ultimately discharging to the Great Lakes. For example, if your property were located in a small watershed that is ‘nested’ inside a larger watershed, you would receive an assessment for each district, should they both be assessed in the same year.

Is this the only way I would receive multiple Drain Assessments in one year?
No. Water may flow off your property in more than one direction to different drains and drainage districts and all of those drains may be assessed in one year.

I recently purchased my property. Why am I being billed for work done prior to my ownership? Although the work for which you are being assessed may have been completed prior to your purchase of the land, the Drain Code requires that assessments be levied to the property, and assessed to the current owner of record. In most cases, the work performed will benefit the property for years to come.

What is the purpose of the Day of Review?
The Day of Review is an opportunity for those being assessed to view the apportionment of benefits. This is also an opportunity for property owners to file a protest against their apportionment.

What if I cannot attend the Day of Review?
If you are unable to attend the Day of Review and have questions regarding your assessment or the assessment process, please call the Ingham County Drain Office. It is possible to make an appointment at times other than the Day of Review, although the appeal period begins after the date of the Day of Review.

What happens if I disagree with the proposed assessment for my property?
Appeal of Drain Special Assessments may be made to the Ingham County Probate Court within 10 days after the Day of Review.
